Reading, Pa., Aug. 12.—Retail sugar prices slumping to 21 and 20 cents here today caused big losses to many grocer who stocked up heavily in the product and now have to pay jobbers and wholesalers 25 to 26 1-2 cents a pound.

Many dealers, fearing an advance to 35, 40 or more cents a pound, ordered of every jobber who would accept their orders early in July. Much of this sugar has aready been delivered and paid for more is coming in, to be paid for at prices five or six cents in advance of retail figures. POLAND ASKS AID OF UNITED STATES

Envoy Publicly Petitions For Arms, Food, Clothing and Credit

WORLD GETS NOTE

Notice to Japan to Get Out of Siberia is Seen by Diplomat—Polish Move Swift

Washington, Aug. 12.—The Polish Government will petition the United States for arms, ammunition, food and clothing with which to render more effective their resistance to the Rebel Army of Russia and at the same time will appeal for the establishment of a credit with which to pay for the munitions now sorely needed.

This became known today after the State Department had given worldwide circulation to its note addressed by Secretary Colby yesterday to the Italian Ambassador dealing with the Polish and Russian problems and offering to support Polish independence and her territorial integrity with "all available means."

Without loss of time, the Polish minister today, in a public statement taking advantage of this blanket offer asked this Government to provide supplies not only for the armies of Poland, but for the 1,000,000 more refugees who have fled before the advancing Red forces.

Notwithstanding the diplomat's appeal for the material aid, the State Department declined to indicate what the Government means by the phrase "all available means." It was declared unofficially, however, that this does not contemplate the employment of the army or the navy in any operation against the Bolshevist invaders of Poland.

All that could be gained from official sources on this point was that the Government will reimpose its order against trading with Bolshevik Russia but, inasmuch as this would have little effect upon the Russian Government, such a move would not greatly improve the condition of the Poles and would contribute little, if anything, it is said, to the maintenance of Polish independence.

It is generally assumed here today that the Government has in mind some thing more concrete in the direction of Polish relief than a trade embargo against Russia, but what measures are in mind have not been outlined by State Department officials.

Meantime the Administration is making the most of its declarations upon the subject of Russia and Bolshevism. The note of yesterday has been ordered dispatched to every Government with which the United States maintains diplomatic relations. It also was delivered to all European press services. Officials today intimated that the President regards the purely Russian phases of the note as of greater importance than that applying immediately to the plight of Poland.

That the Poles would seize upon that phrase in the Colby note stating that all available means would be resorted to by this Government in support of Polish independence and territorial integrity was taken for granted last night, but Government officials were scarcely prepared for so swift a move as that made by Count Lubomirski today. Only the acuteness of the crises through which Poland is passing, it was assumed, prompted the Minister to act without taking time to consult his Government or even to communicate the note to Warsaw.

Supplementing his formal statement the Count, speaking informally to correspondents, said that the American Government still had available enormous stores of arms, ammunition, uniforms and other munitions of war, all of which would be useful to the Polish armies. Already, he said, the Poles had asked the privilege of purchasing 200,000 army uniforms and 200,000 pairs of shoes from the War Department.

Referring to the terms of the armistic reported from London, the Minister said they seemed to be unacceptable, particularly the provision that Poland disarm herself. Such a concession as that would give the Reds a free hand in Poland and render the people of that country helpless.

LEGION POST MEETS

Address by Major Byrne—Captain Harrison Indorsed for State Commander

The Bowen-Franklin-Knox Post of the American Legion had a very large and enthusiastic meeting at the Community Center Monday night The meeting was called to order by Commander Harrison. The director of the Community Center offered the use of a room in the court house for the men. The Post accepted the offer and decided to furnish the room

Commander Harrison introduced Major Richard Byrne, who was a captain on the Mexican border in 1916 and later a major in France. Maj. Byrne knew several Fredericksburg boys in France, among them being Messrs. Snowden Thompson and Lewis C. Jackson.

Major Byrne congratulated the Post on having a real fighting man (and wounded) as its Post Commander, and says there is the first Post he has visited that has bestowed that honor upon a real fighting man.

Maj. Byrne suggested that the Post pass a resolution launching a boom to present Captain Gunyon M. Harrison as a candidate for State Commander of the American Legion at the State Convention in September. The resolution was passed unanimously. Major Byrne pledged his support and promised to go before every Post he can and work for Capt. Harrison as State Commander, and spoke confidently of his election.

The Major's witty manner and his intresting stories of french mortar warfare in France were heartily enjoyed.—(Fredericksburg Free Lance)

Armenian Relief

All Urged to Give This Week and Help Alexandria Raise Her Quota

This is the last week of the campaign undertaken by the several churches of this city in the interest of the Armenian sufferers.

It is perhaps not generally known that in January 1919 when a drive was made throughout the country for these persecuted people. Alexandria fell short a thousand dollars of its quota, and it is hoped at this time to raise a sufficient amount to once more give our city the record of going over the top.

Until peace is arranged the people of the near East cannot hope for self-support, and as the autumn approaches thousands of homeless women and starving little children look to America for help.

Can we not share with them of our sufficiency?

Contributions may be given to any church treasurer or sent direct to Miss Elizabeth Snowden, treasurer, of Alexandria Branch Near East Relief, 211 South Washington street.

FRENCH MILITARY TO DRIVE ON REDS

Prospect For Overthrow of Bolshevik Regime Promising

RECOGNIZE WRANGEL

Paris, Aug. 12.—The French Government has decided to recognize General Baron Peter Wrangel as head of the de facto government of South Russia.

In making this announcement the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said this recognition implied rendering General Wrangel all possible military assistance.

France will send a High Commissioner to Sebastopol immediately, the Foreign Office stated.

Two reasons were given by the Foreign Office for recognizing General Wrangel. The first was his promise to assume all the obligations of the former Russian Government. The second was his promise to give Russia a democratic government.

France notified Premier Lloyd George yesterday of her action to this effect, it was stated. The French Government likewise is notifying its commercial attache in London to have no dealings with Leonid Krassin and Leo Kemeneff, the Soviet emissaries in the British capital.

Previous to the decision of the French Government today to have no dealings whatever with Soviet Russia, M. du Halgouet, the French commercial attache in London, had been informally taking part in discussions between Russian and British representatives on the resumption of commercial relations. It is said that long discussions between M. du Halgouet and Leonid Krassin, Russian Bolshevik Minister of Trade and Commerce, were held in Copenhagen some weeks ago.

The French office regards the Soviet terms to Poland which the British Premier read in the House of Commons last night as only preliminary, and it is convinced that the Soviet Government later would exact much harsher peace terms.

In announcing the recognition of the South Russian Government, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs said the Soviet Government's anxiety with regard to General Wrangel's successes was due to its knowledge that he was the most competent anti-Bolshevik leader who had yet appeared.

The French believe General Wrangel shows more promise of overturning the Bolshevik ragime than did the Poles. General Denikine or Admiral Kolchak. General Wrangel, the French point out, is meeting with great success in turning all the Cossacks tribes against the Bolsheviki.

The Temps says that by granting such recognition "France displays the importance which it attaches to the national character of all governments constituted in Russia. General Wrangel took measures which have made him and his collaborators appear as representatives freely accepted by the populations which they administrate and defend. France is ready to recognize any de facto government which might exist in Russia, regardless of the form of its institutions, but under condition that such governments truly appear as representative of the Russian Nation or a fraction of the Russian Nation."

The only property left in Pennsylvania which was taxable was given as $1,227,612.94, consisting of stocks and realty, and when this was verified by Wilson C. Packer, of Pittsburgh, settlement was made.

CHAPLIN PLEADS WITH WIFE TO LET HIM SELL PICTURE

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 12.—Charlie Chaplin will not fight the divorce sought by Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin if she will withdraw her request for an order to restrain him from selling his latest picture, he said here today.

"I will give her a divorce any time she consents to withdraw the restraining order against my latest picture," said Chaplin. "I offered her a substantial sum, but she clings to the restraining order. There is a State law here that prohibits service of a restraining order on me. I am going to stay here until the picture is sold. I have two years' work and $300,000 of my money tied up in it. I am not a rich man."

The reporters noticed that Chaplin's hair is growing decidedly gray.

WILL VOTE FRIDAY ON RATIFICATION

Tennessee House and Senate Leaders Agree to Act After Hearing

DEFEATED IN HOUSE

Motion to Await Expressions of Mass Meeting Tabled by 50 to 37 Vote Women Confident.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 12.—Chairman Riddick, of the house committee on constitutional conventions and amendments, to which was referred today the joint resolution providing for ratification of the Federal woman suffrage amendment, announced late tonight that the lower branch of the Tennessee legislature would vote on ratification Friday. At the same time, Speaker Todd, of the senate, stated that the upper house also would act that day.

The senate and house committees to which the resolution was referred will conduct a joint hearing on the resolution tomorrow night. Suffrage leaders, who appeared to be in control of the situation, decided nothing could be gained by delaying a vote beyond Friday and agreed to settle the issue at that time.

Suffrage forces were victorious today in the first skirmish of the battle for ratification. A joint resolution, which had for its object postponement of action until August 24 in order that Tennessee in mass meetings throughout the State on August 21 might express an opinion for or against ratification, was tabled by a vote of 50 to 37 in the house.

Representative Frank Hall, one of the authors of the resolution which would have deferred action until later in the month, said the measure was not offered as an obstruction, but was a sincere effort to sound out the sentiment of the State at large. Suffragists, however, charged that it was merely a cog in the machinery of the opposition. Representative Story, late today introduced a joint resolution which, if adopted, would prevent action either for or against ratification. An effort to suspend the rules failed and the resolution went over until tomorrow.

The Story resolution declares that since the assembly in regular session last year granted the right of presidential and municipal suffrage to the women of Tennessee, ratification of the Federal amendment would give them no additional privileges before 1921; that there was great doubt as to the legality of action by this legislature, and that since ratification would make court action certain "people of the nation would fear conditions arising from procedure, irrespective of party."

Visitors from other States here in the interest of ratification or rejection of the amendment were targets of a joint resolution offered in the senate by Senator McFarland. The measure would ask the lobbyists "to please go away and let us alone. We would much prefer your room to your company."

Forces representing the National Woman Suffrage Association were confident of ratification, but Miss Sue White, chairman of the Tennessee branch of the National Woman's Party, in a statement tonight declared that while the tabling today of the

PERILS THREATENING WILD LIFE

Is wild life in this country in danger of extermination? There are reasons for thinking so. Federal action has done something for the migratory birds; and the establishment of "bird sanctuaries" has helped to protect them during the breeding season. But open seasons for game are still too long and bag limits are too liberal. There has also been a great increase in the number of sportsmen; shotguns are cheap and the owners of them too often shoot recklessly, having none of the true sporting spirit. In these circumstances a serious diminution in the abundance of game is inevitable. Sportsmen themselves should be the first to deplore this fact.

Dr. William T. Hornaday, whose authority none will dispute, has issued an appeal to sportsmen urging them to take up this matter in earnest. It is plain that if they do not no one else will. The public in general is apathetic on the subject. Much has been accomplished in recent years in the way of stimulating interest in our singing birds and in creating a desire to save them from their enemies. But birds or animals hunted as game are less easily made objects of sentiment. Their preservation must be approached from a practical point of view. Doctor Hornaday proposes that open seasons and bag limits be reduced by one-half, that individuals be permitted to hunt only one year out of every two, and that license fees be quadrupled in price. Less drastic measures, he fears, will not prevent the slow extermination of our wild life.

There is no need to argue the value of hunting as an outdoor sport or to demonstrate the value of game as a food supply. The economic loss in the extermination of whole species, it must also be remembered would be disastrous. To disturb the balance of nature is always a hazardous experiment. Every form of animal life has its own place in the scheme of things, and its destruction is bound to have far reaching effects. Both the Federal Government and the State authorities have a duty here which they should not ignore.

MEXICAN DIPLOMACY

Francisco Villa, Mexico's Robin Hood, also frequently styled "bandit" and "worst man in Mexico" has set a good example for a bad world. After a dry year in the warfare trade, and perhaps after sensing still drier years to come, Villa leads his faithful ones on a 24 hour march across the desert "without food or water for man or beast," so dispatches say, and they all surrender to his erstwhile enemies. These enemies, being generals who have been trying for years to capture Villa dead or alive, of course fall on his neck and embrace him. Villa is "in a mood when I would like to embrace my worst enemies." So he hugs the generals. Bygone are bygones, and Villa announces that he and his men are going to work, tilling the soil. "It is time for peace in Mexico," says Villa.

Thereby the hitherto unruly outlaw chieftain, in the vulgar but expressive vernacular of the day, said a mouthful. By beating his sword in to a ploughshare he is sitting a notable example to a world full of belligerent warriors. Why cannot Mexican diplomacy be applied to other sore spots on the globe? Why, for example, cannot Trotzky and Pilsudski give each other a good hug and then lead their men back to their deserted farms? Why not have Enver Pacha and Venizelos join in a love feast and then both go into the business of producing food? Could not Millerand and Lenine end their differences in the same way and then tackle the task of raising "less hell and more wheat"? Mexican diplomacy applied to some 57 other varieties of international disputes might give this old world what all countries, including Mexico, need—peace and more food.

PEANUTS

It tastes good.

It is easy to raise.

It is cheap.

It is nutritious.

It is a substitute not only for cheese and meat, but for butter and other fats.

The Peanut, of cool climes, together with the Cocoanut, of warm zones, could come nearer feeding mankind than all cattle, yea, all sheep and swine.

The Peanut, permit me to blundgeon you with the club of science, contains per pound more protein than a pound of sirloin steak, plus more carbohydrates than a pound of potatoes, plus one third as much fat as a pound of butter. Bring on your foodstuff that can beat that!

While you pay 70 cents a pound for your roast beef to the bandit who hides behind the counter at the delicatessen shop, and anywhere up to thirty million dollars a cut for the same at the gilded den of thieves where they take your money away from you to music, you can get a sack of Peanuts for five cents from the street peddler.

The Peanut keeps well in any climate, and in good eating when the steak has spoiled, the potatoes are rotted, and the butter is rancid.

Every Peanut is hermetically sealed in Nature's own sanitary, dustproof, automatic covering, and you can crack it with your fingers.

The Peanut can be taken directly, without feeding it to animals and getting your nutriment by eating flesh and drinking blood.

The Peanut crop has grown faster than any crop in the world's history. In 1910 there were 800,000 acres in Peanuts in the United States. Watch it grow: in 1916 the acreage was estimated at 1,000,000, in 1917 more than 2,000,000 acres.

Yield per acre is about thirty-four bushels of nuts in the shell; a good yield is sixty bushels, including a ton of good hay.

An acre of land can produce twenty bushels of wheat, forty bushels of oats, or forty bushels of Peanuts; that is, one hundred and eighty pounds of digestible protein in the Peanuts, as against one hundred and forty-nine in the oats or one hundred and fifty-four in wheat. In fact it will yield three hundred pounds, while from the oats will come sixty-one and from the wheat but twenty-four pounds.

The United States Department of Agriculture urges the use of Peanut meal, mixed with cornmeal and wheat flour, for griddle cakes, biscuits and muffins; also its use as a cereal and in cakes, puddings and soups, and as a substitute for meat.

Cotton is king, said the South. And Corn is king, answered the North. But the day of kings is passing.

And perhaps the lowly Peanut, 5 cents a bag, is going to do its part in making the world safe for democracy.—(Copright 1920, by Frank Crane.)

TRUNK SUSPECT TRACED TO BRAZIL-BOUND SHIP

New York, Aug. 12.—A report that Eugene Leroy, also known as Fernandez, sought by Detroit and New York police in connection with the death of Katherine Lou Jackson, whose mutilated body was found in a trunk here last month, has shipped for South America with the crew of the steamer Dryden started Government wireless stations working today in an attempt to head off the suspect before he lands at Rio de Janeiro.

The trail of the murder suspect led to the Dryden today when Harry Marflett, a former member of the ship's crew, identified a photograph of Leroy as that of the man who had taken his place when he transferred to another vessel. The Dryden, with the man believed to be Leroy, or Fernandez sailed from Hoboken, August 3.

Leroy, the police say, applied for a place in the ship's crew shortly before the craft left port. Being short-handed the master of the Dryden accepted the stranger's offer, although his neat appearance and well-kept hands belied his claim to being a sailor.

The report that Leroy had [illegible] passage for South America was strengthened by a letter which Police Cates McSeely, of Hoboken, N. J., received from a friend who was a passenger on the Dryden.

The writer, who disembarked at Havana, declared he was certain the suspect was the man wanted in connection with the trunk mystery.

COX CONFINED BY NEURALGIA

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 12.—A neuralgic headache which has been developing since Sunday night caused Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic nominee for President, to retire to his room at Trails End yesterday afternoon.

The governor was only slightly indisposed. In view of the fact that he leaves Dayton on his first campaign tour tomorrow, he thought it would be a wise thing to rest.

The candidate denied himself to callers, but received a representative of a group of newspaper correspondents here. Through him he sent out word that he would be all right again tomorrow morning and without doubt would make the trip to Camp Perry via Columbus, for the opening of his stumping tour Thursday.

New York, Aug. 12.—Burt Curtis, "the best after-dinner burglar in New York" according to the police, was held in $10,000 bail today on a charge of suspicion of burglary, after detectives found in his apartment $7,500 worth of jewelry and 32 suits of clothes, including nine evening dress suits.

Assistant District Attorney Goodman declared police records showed that Curtis, who says he is an actor, had spent many years in State prisons. He said Curtis was sent to Sing Sing in 1912 as an "habitual criminal" Police say he admitted this record in court.

Curtis was specifically held in connection with the robbery of the apartment of Herbert Pike of jewelry and [illegible]

MINSK PARLEY WAITS; REDS PROFESS FAIR AIM

Warsaw, Aug. 12.—Polish delegates have not left for Minsk, where an armistice meeting was to have been held today, on account of failure of the Russian Soviet government to reply to the Polish note of August 5 relative to armistice and peace terms. Russian delegates, however, arrived at the Polish advanced post at the appointed time to await the Polish delegates.

Prince Sapileha, the Polish Foreign Minister, has sent an officer to the Bolshevik lines to determine the armistice situation. If it is ascertained that the Soviet government is willing to conduct negotiations on the basis of the Polish note of August 5, a Polish delegation will be sent to Minsk.

London, Aug. 12.—M. Kameneff, of the Russia Soviet delegation, here today communicated to Premier Lloyd George a message from Moscow, previously sent to Warsaw concerning the conference at Minsk.

It asked when the Polish delegation would arrive and added that no difficulty would be placed in the way of the Polish couriers or of the use of the radios in communicating with Warsaw. Concluding, the note said:

"We have no intentions incompatible with Poland's liberty, independence and sovereign rights. We recognize the same in full."

BOMB SQUAD SCOURS N. Y FOR "RED" BILL POSTERS

New York, Aug. 12.—Members of the police bomb squad and agents of the Department of Justice today toured the city in automobiles seeking persons who during the night placarded unfinished subway stations in Brooklyn with posters signed "United Communist Party of the United States" and calling for a general strike in support of Soviet Russia.

A watchman reported these posters had been pasted up by a party arriving and departing by motor.

Be Honest in the Matter. If You Were an Employer and Needed Good Help---

Would You Give Yourself a Job?

Think it Over! You know yourself better than anybody else in the world does. You can review yourself as no other person can. You know what any employer has a right to expect from the person filling the position that you are holding. Judge yourself, but not by the things your employer sees. Put yourself to the test. Place those things which you alone know about yourself on one side of the balance and put those things which your employers can reasonably expect from you on the other side. What is the result? Do you weigh enough? Are you big enough? Are you giving such service that you would want from a man in your position if you were the boss? In other words knowing yourself as you do, would you give yourself a job if you were doing the employing? If not, take an inventory of yourself. Check up. Pick out the flaws. Compare yourself with the man whom your employer needs. Note your failures and imperfections. Point out to yourself the changes you would like to see in yourself before you would give yourself a job. Then make yourself the man you know you ought to be to fill your position satisfactorily and honestly.

Production

This is what every employer demands and has a right to expect for the money he pays as salary.

Have You Produced Enough

This month so that you can honestly feel that you are an investment yielding a profit?

Improvement

Have you advanced during the past month? Do you endeavor to do more and better work day by day?

Do You Strive to Advance?

Are you in a rut or are you endeavoring to improve and be worth more to those who employ you?

Contentment

Are you satisfied with your job? Do you feel that you are in the place where you can do your best?

Are You Dissatisfied?

If so, talk to your employer. You'll find him ready to listen to you and help you.

Steadiness

Men who stick to their jobs are wanted and are more valuable than those who run from job to job.

Don't Keep Changing Jobs

You gain nothing by running from place to place. The valuable workman is the one who sticks.

Indifference

Don't work without an interest in your job. Don't be a part of the machine but—

Be Interested in Your Work

Endeavor to find a quicker and better way to do the work for this is an age of improvement.

Think it Over!

If you are doing less than you can, stop where you are and start doing your best. It pays much in the end.

Advancement

This should be the aim of every employe and honest effort makes it possible.

Merit Will Always Win

Those who wish to advance and will take an interest in their work beyond the weekly pay envelope, will sooner or later always reach the top.

ARE YOU

A GOOD INVESTMENT?

Do you return your employer 100 cents and interest on every dollar that he pays you? The man, or woman who succeeds and climbs to the top, is the one who recognizes the justness of the claims of the employer for a profit from his employes.

Not How Little--But How Much

Should be the aim of every man who is in the employ of another. This applies whether it is an executive position or among those who produce with their hands. In every line of business this sense of loyalty and fairness calls upon them to do their utmost. They do not measure the work by what is expected of them but by their ability.

They are not satisfied to just get by, but their interest in their work calls upon them to do their best and utmost. It is these men who advance and are selected for their worth and are ready for better things when the opportunity comes their way. It is also easy to find those who are afraid of accomplishing more than they should. They want to get by with the very least possible result of their labor. They do not want their employer to profit on what they do. They aim to do the least that they can and still hold their job. They are always dissatisfied with their pay and are always crying about higher wages elsewhere and how they are being underpaid. Many times they openly boast of their slackness and think it is a matter of which to be proud. They are cheating themselves more than any one else. Think it over. Are you a good investment to the man who pays you your salary, or are you worthless to him as far as making money for him? Answer these question to your self. Let your own conscience tell you where you stand; but remember, if you want to make money for yourself, you must be a profitable investment to those who now put the money in your pay envelope. You may get along and continue drawing pay but you will stand where you are whole others with more interest in their work and with energy to do their best will pass you. They will receive recognition of their work in more responsible positions and with better wages, while you will continue to plod along.

If it was your money that's meeting the

BOY DROWNS STRIVING TO SAVE PET DOG

Chester, Pa., Aug. 12.—Getting beyond his depth when he tried to capture a water spaniel that was swimming in a reservoir, in Marcus Hood, today, Tony Totolino, 9 years old, was drowned. The boy thought the dog was about to drown and called to several of his young companions to help him rescue his pet. Tony was assured the spaniel would make shore all right but he declared he would get his pet alone, if the other boys would not help him.

The boy's cries for help when he found he was drowning, was heard by William H. Williams, of Model Village, who dove into the lake with out removing his shoes or any of his clothing and brought the limp form to shore. Efforts to resuscitate the boy were without avail and the body was taken to the parents' home by Deputy Coroner Cloud.

Sixth—The line of Wolkovisk, Bialystok and Prawevo shall be placed fully at the disposal of Russia for commercial transit to and from the Baltic.

Seventh—The families of all Polish citizens killed, wounded or incapacitated in the war shall be given land free.

The terms for Russia are:

Second—The number of Russian troops on the Russian frontier line shall be considerably reduced and fixed at a figure to be agreed upon.

Third—The armistice line shall be the status quo, but not further east than the line indicated in the July 20 note of Earl Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary.

Fourth—The final frontier of the indpendent State of Poland shall be in the main identical with the line indicated in Lord Curzon' note, but additional territory shall be given Poland on the east in the regions of Bialystok and Ghelm.

FEEDING 3 ON $1 A DAY CAUSES ATTEMPT TO DIE

New York, Aug. 12.—"What could I buy for $1? Twp bottles of milk for the baby, two loaves of bread, three eggs, maybe, some cabbage or some beans—and he asked for change"

Mrs. Margaret Palmier, the 19 year old mother, who swallowed half a bottle of iodine today, told her reason. The reason was that she could not buy food for herself, her baby and her husband, Joseph Palmier, on $1 a day.

She is expected to recover.

Palmier, according to his wife, draws $32 a week. Each day, she said, he gave her $1 and expected her to buy food for meals from this. His wife said he had struck her after she had refused to give him change when he left their home this morning.

RICH MEN DIE WITHOUT WILLS

When administrators of their estates qualified today it developed that he had left an estate appraised at $900,000 and that Mr. Pace's estate was valued at $112,000.

Mr. Pace, however, left $60,000 in life insurance to his widow. She will also get one third of the estate proper while the remainder will be divided among his five children.

Mr. White's widow and his four children will share in the division of his estate.

FRIDAY, THE 13TH, TOMORROW

"Calamitous" Day Comes Second And Last Time This Year

Tomorrow will be Friday, the thirteenth, made famous by the once well-known Tom Lawson, and for many centuries considered one of the banes of the human race, but counteracted in some offices by the appearance of the welcome pay envelope.

Efforts proved futile yesterday to organize a protest against Friday being the thirteenth. The news of this approaching calamity was received with weary indifference; it was too hot to be bothered, for one thing, and too many calamities already had happened to get excited about just one more possibility.

Fate has bludgeoned folks so often lately that one more bludgeon, more or less, is a matter of unconcern.

The mystic and horrific number thirteen has been an omen of evil fortune since earliest legendary days, even before the Irish conquered America or Bob Padgett became a millionaire. The ill repute of Friday dates only from creation, according to the Moslem belief. Mohammed taught that Adam was created on Friday, entered Paradise on Friday, was expelled on Friday, repented on Friday and died on Friday—also that the Resurrection will be on Friday.

Anyhow, tomorrow will be the second and last Friday, the thirteenth, in 1920. The other was in February.

DOMINION LINE OFFICERS MUM

Colin H. Livingston, president of the Washington and Old Dominion Railway, would make no statement last night on the possibilities of a general strike of employes on the road.

Serious labor troubles are said to be culminating. Should a strike be called probably 10,000 Virginians who commute to Washington daily would be inconvenienced in getting to work.

Perishable food stuffs that are moved each day by the railroad from the farming districts near Bluemont will be a total loss should the line be tied up.

Officials of the road, however, claim that they can break any strike that may be called and accuse agitators of having fomented the present trouble.

Conductors, motormen and trainmen sufficient to render service are said to be at the disposal of the road.

Employes of the road have told residents of Clarendon, Fairfax, Falls Church, Bluemont and Great Falls that they might expect a tie up at any time.

LOADS SIX COAL CARS IN 2 HOURS; KILLS SELF

After loading six cars in less than two hours, he died of a ruptured heart according to the coroner.

MOVIES

INGOMAR—Gladys Brockwell

RICHMOND THEATRE

America's most common vice is said to be spending more than we earn. Rupert Hughes wrote a striking novel about it called "The Thirteenth Commandment." A more than ordinarily interesting motion picture has been made of the story and is being shown at the Richmond Theatre today. Ethel Clayton is the star and all that Mr. Hughes intended his beautiful and exquisitely gowned heroine to be.

As you have probably surmised, "The Thirteenth Commandment" is "Thou shalt not spend more than thou earnest," and the story is about young married and about to be married folks.

A Snub Pollard comedy will also be shown.

Firestone

Why did sales of Firestone 3½-inch tires increase 96% the first six months of this year?

You, multiplied by thousands, getting your most miles per dollar expended for tires, demonstrated the efficiency of the balanced 3½—the Firestone.

Firestone built a single plant (Plant No. 2) to specialize in tires for small cars and got results which have been passed on to you at low cost—most miles per dollar.

It is more than thickness of tread, the mystery of rubber compounding, the size of the breaker strip, the number of plies of fabric, the heavy cushion or the greater air displacement that has put greater tire mileage—more economy—more comfort at your call.

It is the balanced co-ordination of all parts of the Firestone 3½ by specialists who have given eighteen years' study and practice to tire needs. Ask your dealer.

BABY SEARCH FAILURE

Officials, Following Clue From Alleged "Crank" Search Egg Harbor For Blakely Coughlin

Philadelphia, Aug. 12.—Federal, State and local officials returned last night after an all-day search in the vicinity of Egg Harbor, N. J., on a clue they had been led to believe would lead to the arrest of the mysterious "Joe" named by Augusto Pasquale, "the Crank," as the kidnapper of 18-month-old Blakely Coughlin. The supposed clue, however, according to the authorities, proved as false as scores of others run down since the child was stolen from his crib on June 12.

Pasquale was taken from his cell this afternoon and rushed to Egg Harbor in an automobile. Although it was the information furnished by him that led to the search, Major Adams, of the Penncylvania State Police, declared tonight none of the prisoner's statements had been verified and that the search had been fruitless. The Major added that he was not so certain now that the child is still alive.

George H. Coughlin, father of the missing baby, today filed a writ of attachment against the personal effects and bank accounts of Pasquale in an effort to regain some of the $12,000 which the police say "the Crank" admitted having received as ransom for the return of the child. The articles named in the writ are valued at $952.

POTATO DUMMPING AIRED

Reports That 80 Carloads Were Submerged Referred to Officials

Washington, Aug. 12. — Reports reaching Washington today that 80 carloads of potatoes had been dumped into the Delaware river at Wilmington, Del., were referred to the profiteering division of the Department of Justice today. The report was published in local newspapers. It stated that wholesalers had dumped the potatoes because of the fear of an oversupply in the market.

Assistant Attorney-General Figg, who is in charge of the enforcement of the Profiteering act, is out of the city, but word was brought from some of his assistants that "there was nothing to be said today" on the potato story. In some of the other Government departments, where the question of the cost of living is an important one, particularly in the Department of Labor, the Wilmington report caused the greatest indignation and some very heated criticism. If the story can be supported by facts, it was contended, the practice constituted the worst form of profiteering.
